“Hii”, it all started with just this three-letter word and it changed the course of both our lives. When I sent that message, I knew for sure that my life won’t be the same, I knew that this small action will change the track of my life completely. I was so sure because my feelings for you never left, they were always there, reminding me of you in some random Wednesday night and I remember that I used to just lie down and try to relive all those memories of our childhood that I could recall. It used to break my heart whenever I heard that Samridhi Mishra was dating this guy and the sad part was, I hid my feelings thinking you are gone and that what we had was nothing more than “a game of youth”. I have told you a lot of times what was going through my head when I texted you that “Hii” but the one thing I never mentioned was the fact that I was scared of knowing the truth, the truth that you really were in those relationship I heard rumors about, that maybe you never loved me and it was all just my imagination, that maybe you and I were never meant to be and that maybe I had missed my chance with you when there was still time. All these scared the shit out of me and I swear for a moment I thought of not contacting you but I did anyway because I remember seeing your photo (that purple filter one) and realizing that I would happily handle the heartbreak if it meant talking to you like old times. I knew for a fact that I would lay over barbed wires for you and I would do that smiling.

I love you and I love you more than anyone has ever loved you. You remember you asked me how much time I will take to move on and I said I would never move on from you, that's because I am not just in love with your appearance, I love your soul (well obv because you have such a beautiful one ;)), I love your smile and your anger, I love it when you call me unannounced and I love it when you playfully hit me, I love it when your face melts right before a kiss and I love the way face turns when u are mad at me. I am in love with each and every thing that's associated with you and this type of love never fades away baby. I will love you till eternity and beyond and I will love you no matter where we are. You know when we were in class 4th, I used to admire you from a distance when u were not looking and that 9 year old used to think that you are the prettiest girl alive and I used to literally pray that we get married when we grow up. I don't know what powers you have but you sure as hell have the power to get anyone hooked, be it a kid who could not even recite 9s table or an 18-year-old who thinks he is the smartest in the room.

You remember once you asked me what did I value more personality and face (and then we fought about it 🦴) and I said personality. Well, the thing is I fell face first the moment I looked at you and then I fell in love again when I came to know you as a person. I know I have told you thousands of times how beautiful I think you are but the thing is every day I look at you I feel like I am looking at you for the first time, like it's the first time in my life I am looking at something so mesmerizingly beautiful. Whenever you get dressed up with earrings, lipstick and all, my heart flutters like it's about to burst, and then you smile and you laugh and it makes me beg to anyone who's up there listening to stop time right here because I want to live in that moment with you forever and I know it sounds cheesy but I can't help how I feel. I have memorized your face so deeply that whenever I close my eyes, I can still see every curve, every line, every feature of your face. Your skin is like satin sheet, so soft and smooth that whenever I touch you the world fades away and then it's just you and me. Your eyes are like pools of molten gold that I could stare into for hours and never get bored, they hold so much depth and emotion that I feel like I could drown in them. Whenever you wear those big earrings along with bindi and kajal and lipstick, my heart skips a beat and I feel as if you have stepped out of a dream. You look so perfect like a work of art, a masterpiece that takes my breath away, in that moment everything disappears baby and all I can see is you, your aura of beauty and elegance. Baby You are like the missing piece that completes me, every moment spent with you feels like a lifetime and I never want to let go because you are my everything, you are the best thing that has ever happened to me and you are the only person that matters in my life.

We have reached a milestone baby and I could never imagine myself in this place with anyone else. I told you before that before starting this relationship I had my doubts about how it will affect my career and I chose to go with it anyway because it was you, well turns out it was the best decision of my life. I feel so strong, like I can conquer anything and everything when you are with me and I never had this feeling with anyone else. I want to congratulate your parents baby because I don't know whether they know it or not but they have raised the most beautiful, lovely and caring women any man could ever ask for and for the record I know you are going to be an even amazing mom because you are just so perfect, it's like the lines "Hai chaad mai bhi daag par na tujhme ek bhi" was written just for you. You are more than just my partner, you are like my rock, my best friend and my soulmate and I promise to hold your hand through good times and bad, to stand by your side through thick and thin. I promise that I will give you the life that you deserve, I will give you all the happiness in this world and I will never let anything get in between us.

One thing that I have realized in this one year is that the way you feel directly affects the way I feel. When you are upset, I feel like the world has lost its color, nothing seems good anymore and everything becomes dull. When you are happy and smiling, my day lights up with joy, the world becomes a more vibrant and beautiful place. Your emotions have this incredible power over me and if this is not the proof of how deep our connection is then I don't know what is.

Baby you came in my life when I was least expecting it and you changed it forever. I am far from perfect and I fuck up a lot of times and there were times when we almost broke up because of me but even after all these up and downs, we have finally completed 1 year together and I don't know how to express how happy and excited I am that we have covered this milestone together. One year down baby, One whole fucking year of us telling each other how much we love one another. You are the one for me baby, You are the one I want to spend the rest of my life with and You are the for whom I want to live. We will face problems in the future too baby, its just a part of growing up but I promise you I will always be there for you no matter what happens, I will always love you and support you and I hope you would be able to forgive me if I make mistakes in the future. I love you, always did and will always do. Baby seeing you happy is the only purpose of my life and I will move mountains just to see that smile on your face. I am so lucky to have you in my life and I will always cherish you inside and out. You are my home, my haven and my constant source of happiness and I promise to always love you with all my heart for the rest of my life.

Thank you for being there for me baby and once again Happy One Year Sweetheart.....
